On Inviolability of the Documents about the Arrangement of the Conditions after the World War II in Slovakia

The National Council of the Slovak Republic has settled on this declaration:

The National Council of the Slovak Republic

- not forgetting the suffering of the World War II victims, disapproving the principle of collective guilt,
- refusing efforts to question and revise the laws, decrees and treaties and other decisions of the institutions of Slovakia and Czechoslovakia which would lead to modification of the post-war measures related to property rights and political measures,
- respecting the consequences of the truce agreement between the victorious powers and the defeated countries, including the peace treaty between Czechoslovakia and Hungary from 10 February 1946 and the Štrba protocols from 25 July 1949,
- wishing the development of good neighbourly relations with the Republic of Hungary,
- looking to the future in the integrative overcoming of the past, and with the firm intent to finish the raising of questions regarding the end and arrangements after the 2nd World War,

declares that

- 1. the constitutional, political and legal measures within the post-war arrangement originated, similarly as in other European countries, as a result of the 2nd World War war and the defeat of the Nazism and were based on the principles of the international law represented by the Potsdam Agreement;
- 2. the post-war decisions of the representative institutions of the Republic of Czechoslovakia and the Slovak National Council are not a cause of any discriminatory practice, and no legal relations can origin based on them nowadays;
- 3. the legal and property conditions based on them are unchallengeable, untouchable and unchangeable.
